Discover Benedictine at Campus Visit Day

SPRINGFIELD, III. – Prospective students interested in learning more about the opportunities available at Benedictine University at Springfield are invited to attend Campus Visit Day at 10:00 a.m. on Saturday, January 23 in the Charles E. Becker Library. Sign-in begins at 9:30 a.m.

High school students, students planning to transfer from community colleges or other post-secondary institutions and working professionals interested in accelerated evening classes through our Adult Benedictine Learning Experience (A.B.L.E.) are invited to attend the visit day to learn more about our academic offerings.

Students and their parents can meet with faculty and staff representatives, admissions and financial aid counselors to discuss Benedictine University's outstanding academic programs, admission requirements, application process and available scholarships and financial aid. An information fair will provide prospective students with the opportunity to further explore specific programs of interest and discover student organizations. Campus tours will be available.

Reservations are not required, but you are encouraged to call (217) 525-1420 or (800) 635-7289 to schedule a visit.

For more information about Campus Visit Day at Benedictine University at Springfield, call the admissions office at (217) 525-1420, e-mail sboehler@ben.edu or visit the University's Web site at www.ben.edu/springfield.

Benedictine University at Springfield is a progressive liberal arts institution offering bachelor's master's and doctoral degree programs. Rooted in the founding of Springfield Junior College by the Ursuline Sisters in 1929, the University possesses an enduring legacy of leadership and excellence amid an exquisite campus setting with a vibrant student body. The University offers 11 traditional undergraduate majors, three adult undergraduate majors, four graduate programs and one doctorate program.
